Information Sources on International Agricultural Trade

INFORMATION SOURCES

FAS Information Division
April 1997

REFERENCE

This directory is for internal use only and is not to be distributed outside the Foreign Agricultural Service.

The Foreign Agricultural Service is an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture that represents U.S. agricultural interests overseas, reports on international agricultural production and trade, promotes exports of U.S. farm products, fosters economic development and trade linkages, and works to improve world trading conditions. FAS also coordinates USDA's input into activities of international organizations, including USDA's role in international food aid programs, and administers some agricultural import regulations.

The following is a list of topics related to international agriculture and trade and the experts, inside and outside FAS, who can provide information on them.
